Helping the Red Cross

Col. G. S. Duncanson, president of the Canadian Red Cross Society, writes in the opening chapter of his latest official announcement:

"It may be truly said that never in the history of the world has there been, and will there be, a greater emergency, a slaughter as is now being perpetrated on the battlefields of Europe. Estimating the combatants at 2,000,000, which is under the mark, and not counting the Russian and Austrian forces, it is evident that no such colossal armistice have ever been seen. Without going into detail, it may be safely said that the average of killed and wounded is now 7 per cent of the armies engaged, of whom 10 per cent will be killed outright. Therefore, based on these statistics, there will probably be 140,000 men killed and wounded, but it is probable that this estimate will far exceed the actual combatant sickness.

"Allowing 20 per cent as an average number of sick, it would mean that in the next few months there will be 400,000 sick in the armies of Europe, and 100,000 in the British forces.

In the face of such statements as the above, is there a woman in Canada who will not give some of her spare time to helping the Red Cross?

In view of the severe hardships being suffered by many soldiers for the soldiers, from the higher grades, who knit socks and wristlets, to the tiny tots who delight in making checkered handkerchiefs.

Presentation

To H. H. Tate

On the eve of his departure from Blairmore, a large number of citizens waited upon H. H. Tate at the council chamber and presented him with a gold watch and the following address:

Blairmore, October 27th, 1914.

H. H. Tate, Esq.,

Dear Mr. Tate,—

We learn very lately that you intend leaving Blairmore tonight to take the Canadian Pacific and the time at our disposal did not permit to give a more proper expression to our feelings on your departure. We cannot however allow you to leave us without signifying in some way our deep appreciation of your services, qualities as a bank officer and as a citizen.

You have been the representative here of one of our largest financial institutions for nearly three years, and now that you are about to remove to another centre the services you have rendered in Blairmore, socially as well as financially, it is cordial regret expressed on every side that you are leaving us. We have found you unassuming, even retiring, in your bearing, towards all official occasions, but your frank and upright character and business acumen which we doubt not will carry you far, onward to a speed and complete success.

We regret exceedingly that you are severing your connection with our Town, but our regret is in a measure alleviated by the fact that a well deserved promotion has come to you. We trust that your new surroundings will be as comfortable and agreeable as your old ones, and wherever you may be removed later, with a friendly interest and we trust that this watch and chain will serve some to recall the many happy days you have spent with us here in Blairmore. We are sure to believe that its monetary value is not by any means the measure of our esteem; it is the necessary and cordial expression of our regard and of all our best wishes for your success and happiness.

We trust that your character and worth have been appreciated by them in some measure at least.

On behalf of the citizens of Blairmore,

H. E. Lyon, Mayor

W. A. Beebe, Councillor

D. A. Sinclair, Councillor

L. Dutil, Councillor

F. E. Hinck, Councillor

Missed Ross, Councillor

The above address was read by Mayor Lyon, who also presented Mr. Tate with a handsome gold watch and chain, containing a pin.

Mr. Tate made a very suitable reply, expressing regret at being obliged to leave Blairmore and the PAs.

The meeting adjourned.

Alberta in Good Shape

That Alberta is in the best shape financially of any province in Canada is now a fact.

Mr. Mitchell claimed in his budget speech in the Legislature, that the total amount of the public debt of Alberta, $22,250,000, was an obligation of the province, and that the annual interest on the debt was $1,000,000.

The debt of Alberta is $18,420,902 and by the end of 1915, nineteen and a half million dollars will be presented in the budget.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out the uncertainties due to war conditions and said if revenues did not measure up to expectations the government would reduce spending correspondingly.

He said that the Alberta government had 162 members that their full expenditure to public works may not be met.

Mr. Mitchell also said that the financial liability involved in railway guarantees, that the government had $1,200,000,000.

Rallying Round the Old Flag

One of the happiest and most inspiring features of the war is the way in which spontaneous outbursts of the whole country to the stir of the Maelstrom. The self-governing Dominions, which are the great and great dependency of India are all arrayed animated by but one spirit. All are in the same cause, and the death struggle not only for Great Britain, but also for the British and all the pillars of liberty and justice, that it concerns them as citizens of the Empire. The Empire and all its competent parts must either survive it or perish. All see, and all know, that the nation that the Empire shall survive it must not perish.

We have come from day to day the outrush of this tidal wave of patriotic enthusiasm, and the realms over which the Union Jack flies. Offers of ships and troops, of food and money, are coming in ceaselessly. They have been accepted with gratitude and with a deep sense of the patriotic and national consciousness that in this struggle we are fighting for our very existence as an empire.—London Daily Mail.

Cinder in the Eye

Usually the eye can take care of itself as it is very quick to close and to contract when it is irritated. But there are times when a tiny bit will get entered and if you are far from a doctor, home remedies are to be used. Occasionally you find a small piece of cinder in the eye, an erosion, but it is by an amateur never recommended by an oculist. It is a most uncomfortable and comforting thing in the case of some thing in the eye, is to have a friend apply a drop of oil to the eye. It gives immediate relief; the foreign body is found at once and taken out. The oil is a good lubricant and is grateful to the inflamed surface, and the tiny droplets of oil are very healthful, as is well known. The red leaves in a few minutes. The red eyes are an indication of the available and is worth remembering.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had a bad case of rheumatism, fever, inflammation and congestion, and was unable to walk. I had pains in both sides, backaches and bear- aches, and I never slept well at night. I had a short time, more nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and I could not get in the habit of reciting for the children, writing, or doing the rest of the work of expression.

Concentration is so essential to the retention of health that it is hard for a child concentrate when forced to pay attention to the hum of the teacher's voice?" Sol had a bad case of rheumatism, and all day long the roar of battle. How can one expect a child to do otherwise?"

Napoleon, one of the greatest captains of all time, had a bad case of rheumatism, and achieved fame through his ability to draw forth most wonderful military skill.

Let us never fail in the manifest duty of giving the child every opportunity possible for expression.

Be Warned, Tim.

A captain, who, when Lord Mitre used to delight in telling was of an experience he had while he was vice-regal of India, said, "I wanted to speak to the commandant-in-chief of the Indian army before I left, but he would not see me. So he set off unattended to an early call. When he arrived at the commandant's office, he found his way barred by a sentry, who apparently did not recognize the "Viceroy."

Lord Mitre explained that he had been sent to speak to the commandant-in-chief, but the sentry declined to allow him to pass.

"I am the 'viceroy,'" protested the sentry.

The sentry looked at him with a piteous expression.

"Ah," he said, thoughtfully, "we all know that 'viceroy' last year gave a cow to that kid, Queen Victoria's grandfather."

He had been buying presents, and I am sure he was in grave or as good as it gets."

Bellevue Happenings

James Callan is enjoying a short holiday in Spokane.

Colin Macleod, of Macleod, and Mr. Ottlind, of Lethbridge, spent Sunday in town.

Alderman Robert Holmes, of Coleman, made a business visit to town on Tuesday.

Tom Dupont left for Lethbridge Monday. He will work in his brother's mine there.

Fred Chappell and James Marland spent Wednesday afternoon shooting at South Fork.

Tom Lloyd, of the Bellevue Liquor Store, made a business visit to Macleod on Tuesday.

It is expected that the electricity will be turned on in the Connolly addition by the weekend. Several of the buildings have already been wired and meters installed.

Yarla Lewis, one of our popular Welshmen, left for Castor, Alberta, on Sunday morning. Yarla was "one of the boys," and his departure left a blank not easily filled.

C. W. Johnston, of the Lyric theatre, left on Wednesday for a short visit to his ranch, some fifteen miles west of Graman. Here's hoping he brings back a big bag of chickens.

Miss Maggie Burrows, who has been visiting her parents for a few days, returned to Pincher Creek the first of the week. Her departure is greatly regretted by at least one party in town.

Things seem to be slowly returning to normal around the mines. All this week men have been taken back to work, and it is expected that work will continue steadily with a normal crew all winter.

Jack Leonard, who has been confined to bed for some time with rheumatism, went to the Sanatorium on Tuesday. We look for his speedy recovery under the able attention of mine host Dr. Flenning.

An exceptionally large crowd enjoyed the weekly dance at the Lyric theatre Friday night last. These dances are just being appreciated and fill a want to many who enjoy tripping the light fantastic.

J. B. Rudd has been busily engaged for the past few days laying a sidewalk in front of the southern hotel. It is to be hoped that the other property owners will follow his good example and complete the job by laying a walk right along the street. It would be God-send in muddy weather.

Rather an interesting sidelight is thrown on the war and its effect on the English people in a letter just received from England by Mr. Dufficy, our local baker. His sister, writing from a little town in the midlands of 5600 people, says that 500 have already volunteered for active service. That's going something, and then it's a carpet manufacturing town and possibly two-thirds of the population are women.

A Huge Success

The benefit concert given by the F.O.E. in aid of F. Litherland drew a capacity house at the Lyric theatre, Bellevue, on Tuesday, and a varied and interesting program was presented by local bands and every item deserving of the name. Perhaps a short resume of the various turns would not be out of place. The sensational side of the question was well taken care of by Mrs. Wolstenholme, who sang with great feeling and received splendid applause. That very old, but still very acceptable ballad "Astoria" was sung by Mrs. Bugbee in a most magnificent voice. What might be termed the lead liver was the singing of the Bellevue Male Voice Party, composed of sixteen. Their renditions of "The Crusaders" brought down the house, and the Sailors' chorus was well received. "We expect and hope to hear more from these boys. The comedy side was excellently represented by Mr. and Mrs. Moreny and Belgrave, in "I Parted my hair in the middle," taking a scream from start to finish. Bob Blaken and Dave Huston both got a couple of good

A small attendance was present at the induction service in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening of last week, although a very pleasant evening was spent, five ministers being present to place Mr. Chalmers in his future position as pastor. Rev. Mr. Wright, of Pincher Creek, gave a very impressive address to the members, also to others who were present at the meeting, encouraging and inspiring them to do their best as church workers, also trying to impress upon them the need of living in accordance with minister's salary when due, as the most one of the important items to keep them preacher alive to his work, for he said, it stands true that it is he to work for them he must have something to keep him up to the standard, something that will help and encourage him and stimulate him to his purpose. Lunch was served at the close by the ladies.

It is with regret we have to announce that on Saturday, the 24th inst., due to entered Mr. Cleland band and took therefore his last band and father. Mr. Cleland had been ill for some time, and although death was looked for, it struck a terrible blow when it took the head of the home. He had been a resident here for but three years, and had gained many friends. He leaves a wife and large family of children to mourn his loss, many of whom were with him when the end came. They have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood. Funeral took place from the house to the Anglican church on Monday afternoon, thence to his last resting place, followed by a large concourse of people. The Orangemen, of which deceased was a member, turned out in a body. The pall bearers were Messrs. Scott and Dowling, of Sunnyside; Young, Eastbrook, Iredale and Robinson, of Cowley. Several wreaths of flowers were placed on the casket.

A MARVELLOUS ESCAPE

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. E. Badhams, Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope.

"It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very bad attack of the cramps. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.

The War

There's a whirl of smoke on the cornfield
Mid the rows the gore-stained mud

Is trod by the feet
Of the men who meet
To harvest not corn, but blood.

There's a roar o'er the distant city;
Not the roar of commerce wild,
But the roar of the battle field.

Brings a grim knell

To man and woman and child.

Afar o'er the golden wheat fields
There tramples a mighty band

Not wheat for the mill
But to maim and kill
Is the mission they have in hand.

With a hoarse, hoarse carriage
Over Europe's fields so wide?

Or what is the need?

That the land should bleed

From Coast to Mountain of millions?

Our men—the rulers of millions,
With a curse on their heads thought

To rule by the sword.

As Europe's Lord,

His people this lesson taught.

Drum, with the lust of conquest

Deaf to a nation's woes!

No will but his own.

No law but his own!

No law but his own!

No law but his own!

Can the life-blood start

Through a loyal British vein?

Then, rally, ye sons of Britain,

Around the grand old flag,

That has waved for the right

Of a people's right!

And will triumph yet again.

Teach to the teming millions,

Brave to the weak school,

That ruling power!

May have in hour,

But humanity's law must rule.

IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town

Like the kind of a town you like, You needn't sit there. You're in a grip, and start on a long life.

You'll only find what you left behind, For there's nothing that's really new; It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.

It's not your town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid, Live somebody who gets ahead; When everyone works and nobody shucks.

You can raise a town from the dead. And if while you make your personal stake,

Your neighbor can make the too, Your town will be what you want to see. It's not your town—it's you.
